

The Fourth Of July Barbecue

INSIDE

Trivia Questions 2

by AlexAnna Salmon

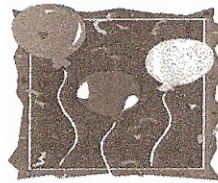

On the fourth of July, Igiugig had a big barbecue up at the beach. The day started out drizzly, cloudy, and foggy, but later that day it cleared up. It was windy enough so there were no bugs. There was plenty of food: fish, caribou meat, macaroni salad, Jell-O, rolls, moose burgers, oreo's, chips, candy bars, marshmallows, broccoli, and agutak. Clyde arrived with broccoli and oreo's, which he called the green and the black food.

The barbecue was a fun get together, with music supplied by Mike Andrew, who played the accordion, and Clyde with the guitar. When the cooking was done, the fire became a bonfire, with people sitting around it talking. After eating, the kids lit off fireworks. We had a blast. Hopefully next year we will have another barbecue.

baby, my baby."

Congratulations, Greg and Renae.

Summer Fun

by Tanya and Christina Salmon

People are constantly asking us, "Don't you get bored living in this small village?" We respond, "No, you find ways to keep yourself busy." Kids catch Bullheads and Sticklebacks, others catch fish and help put up Salmon for the winter. Some of us find work and that keeps us busy. Hondas are continuously going up and down the few roads we have around here. Riding keeps us satisfied during the long summer hours. Then there is always berry picking, which means sore backs from bending over and sore thumbs from the peeling. On hot summer days we have picnics out on the beach and then go swimming a little. If you are living here all year round you find ways of keeping yourself occupied.

Summer Reading Club

by Bernadette Andrew

The Reading Club is cruising right along. At our July 6th meeting, we reached the 250 book goal and each participant who had contributed received a coupon for a free pop. As of our July 27th meeting, our 25 participants had read

Newest Addition to Igiugig

by Christina Salmon

Greg and Renae Zackar are the proud parents of Gregory Zackar Jr., who was born at 6:49 PM on the first of July. At 7 pounds 4 ounces and 19 inches he was the largest at birth of their children. Baby Gregory was due on the 23rd of July, but decided to grace his mother with his presence a few weeks early.

Gregory is the third born to Greg and Renae. He has two older sisters, Alicia and Sharolyn. Alicia always says, "Keep the mosquitoes off of his face." Sharolyn likes to tell everyone, "My
